This Australian and New Zealand edition of Professional Beauty Therapy equips students with the knowledge and skills required to successfully practice beauty therapy.

This course is designed specifically to cover the core and common elective units of the Australian SIB10 Beauty Training Package as well as the New Zealand Beauty Therapy training qualifications. It combines theory and practice into one easy-to-use course, as well as covering health and safety, beauty sciences, treatments and professional practice.

Comprehensive, easy-to-use and up-to-date with the latest industry trends, Professional Beauty Therapy provides students with the specialist skills and underpinning knowledge you need to give your learning that professional edge.

The material in this course was provided by Cengage Learning, Inc. for instructional use and review. Cengage Learning is the leading provider of learning materials for vocational learning in Australia.

5. Skin science and biology

The beauty therapist treats the skin in every beauty treatment, so it is most important to know its structure and function and how beauty products and treatments can affect the skin.

Disorders and diseases of the skin affect the way treatments are conducted and may contraindicate a treatment. The beauty therapist must decide when to treat the skin and when to refer a condition to a medical practitioner.

Professional Beauty Therapy 1e is the perfect course to equip students with the knowledge and skills required to successfully practice beauty therapy.

Written to the core and common elective units as outlined in the current SIB10 Beauty Training Package, this course combines theory and practical elements, including health and safety, beauty sciences, treatments and professional practice. This course provides everything - local legislation, occupational health and safety recommendations and industry best practice, whilst covering new industry trends, technologies and procedures such as Hot Stone Massage, Intense Pulsed Light and Laser, Spa and Aromatherapies. Give your students learning that professional edge.

A complete course comes with a generous instructor package, including a testbank, PowerPoint presentations, equipment lists, chapter summaries, a solutions manual, activity sheets and so much more. All instructor components can also be purchased individually at chapter level.
